ANNUAL MEETING,

TUESDAY, 17TH FEBRUARY, 1931.

The 105th Annual General Meeting of the Royal Bath Hospital and Rawson Convalescent Home was held on Tuesday, 17th February, in the Board Room.

The Rt. Hon. the Earl of Harewood, K.G., D.S.O., presided. Among those present were Walter Freeman, Esq., J.P., Matthew Stephenson, Esq., J.P., Vice-Presidents; Sir L. G. Dunbar, Col. W. F. Collins, D.S.O., Lt.-Col. A. Kirk, J.P., J. A. Eddison, Esq., C. E. Carter, Esq., J.P., S. Barnes, Esq., J. H. Barker, Esq., S. Hogg, Esq., J.P., C. A. Rhodes, Esq., J.P., Archdeacon Phipps, Dr. G. L. Kerr Pringle, Dr. G. Holmes, Dr. L. C. E. Calthrop, Dr. A. C. Sharp, Dr. W. Yeoman, Dr. R. P. J. Rutherford, Dr. J. L. Wesley-Smith, Dr. Sinclair Miller, Dr. Dorothy Potter, G. R. Winter, Esq., Mr. Kennear (Newcastle), Mr. T. Luxton (Shipley), etc.

Apologies for absence were received from Major J. W. Dent, Sir John Eaglesome, Mr. J. H. Ainley, Mr. F. Mudd, Mr. W. E. Plews, Dr. Hobson, Dr. Walker, Dr. Hitchcock, etc.

LORD HAREWOOD, in moving the adoption of the Report and Accounts, said the past year had been a very satisfactory one, for which great credit was due to the Committee of Management and to the Honorary Medical Staff. Perhaps the most important change was that the Committee, as the result of a request from the Medical Staff, had decided to appoint a House Physician. This decision had been arrived at unanimously after the matter had been carefully investigated by a sub-committee, under the chairmanship of Sir John Eaglesome.

Turning to finance he thought they would all agree that the Hospital was almost unique in the consistency with which it kept out of debt, despite the fact that its work increased every year. That state of affairs reflected great credit upon the Committee of Management. There remained, however, one unsatisfactory feature to which he desired to draw their particular attention. The Hospital dealt with diseases of a rheumatic character; something like 90 per cent. of their cases were of this character. Two other centres devoted themselves to similar work, yet they were not advancing in their knowledge of the origin of those diseases as fast as they ought to be doing. He suggested therefore that, as they had no great central research laboratory to go to the root of the whole matter, they ought to establish a research centre, backed up by a substantial fund, to increase their knowledge, and therefore to cure more easily the more serious of the rheumatic diseases—notably arthritis. Medical knowledge of this was so slight that it was almost a disgrace that the country was not better equipped for discovering the root of it. For the proper study of the disease it would be necessary to raise a fairly large sum, and he submitted that they ought to consider whether the Hospital ought not to take the lead on those lines. The cost would be about £1,500 a year for a term of years. Very little could be done in a year or two, and they ought to guarantee its continuance for say seven years.

The Hospital had no funds which it could divert to this purpose, since its money was subscribed for the immediate purpose of relieving sufferers, and to divert those funds would be a breach of their trust. They might well consider whether that Hospital should not be made the collecting place for information on rheumatic disease obtained from all over the world. The establishment of such a centre would add to their reputation and to the relief of suffering throughout the kingdom. He suggested that a Committee might well be formed to consider the formation of such a fund.

MR. WALTER FREEMAN, who seconded the resolution, while expressing sympathy with the project outlined by Lord Harewood, supported his statement that the Hospital had no funds of its own available for the purpose. With regard to the accounts, the contributions paid by the Approved Societies showed a falling off of about £60, and this was the only unsatisfactory feature. They valued these payments very highly since they, to a large extent, were responsible for their credit balance.

During the year they had completed the installation of an electric lift at an approximate cost of £1,000, which had really been defrayed by the accumulated balance from former years. The new Operating Theatre, for which they had last year set aside £500, had, with equipment, already cost them about £900, but he believed it would prove worth every penny of it.

The Reports and Accounts were then adopted.

LORD HAREWOOD moved a vote of thanks to the Chairman and Members of the Committee of Management, and proposed their re-election with the additions of Mr. H. Chapman, J.P., and Col. A. T. Walker, in place of Major E. P. Cross and Mr. J. S. Cowell deceased, and the appointment of the nominees of the Hon. Medical Staff, Dr. G. Holmes, Dr. A. C. Sharp, Dr. W. Yeoman, and Mr. Pavey-Smith. He said the Report was sufficient testimony to the efficiency of the Committee for him to pass it over without further remarks, but he would like, without being invidious, to single out the name of Mr. Rhodes, since his efforts on behalf of the Hospital were such as to call for their especial thanks.

MR. MATTHEW STEPHENSON, J.P., seconded, and the resolution was carried.

MR. C. A. RHODES, J.P., Chairman of the Committee, replying, said that the suggested research department was worthy of the most careful consideration. They had the place in which to work, the material on which to work, and all they required was the money to finance the scheme. It would take time and trouble, but they would not embark on the project until they could see their way clean through. It had always been the policy of the Hospital to know where the money was coming from before they spent it. So long as he had anything to do with the Hospital and, he thought, so long as the present Committee was in control, that policy would be continued.

In conclusion, he expressed his appreciation of the co-operation between the administrative and domestic staffs, and paid tribute to the Matron's happy knack of being able to enforce discipline without incurring resentment.

COL. W. F. COLLINS, D.S.O., proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Freeman for his services as Hon. Treasurer and his re-election for the ensuing year. They all knew what time and trouble Mr. Freeman devoted to the work of the Hospital. It had been the work of a lifetime, and the satisfactory state of the balance sheet was entirely due to him.

DR. G. L. KERR PRINGLE, M.C., who seconded, said it gave him especial pleasure to bear public testimony to the work Mr. Freeman had done. He always seemed to be able to produce the money they needed from somewhere. During the past eleven years at least £14,000 had been spent on various improvements, yet they managed to steer clear of debt.

MR. FREEMAN, in reply, said it gave him the greatest pleasure to do anything he could for the benefit of the Hospital.

MR. J. A. EDDISON moved a vote of thanks to the members of the Hon. Medical Staff for their services during the past year, and their re-election for the ensuing year, with the additions of Dr. R. P. J. Rutherford and Dr. J. L. Wesley-Smith in place of Dr. Kerr Pringle and Dr. Calthrop, who had resigned.

He said that their services were indispensable went without saying, but that they were given so ungrudgingly called for the most cordial recognition. They were not content to cure but were determined, sooner or later, to get at the causes and to root them out.

SIR L. G. DUNBAR seconded the resolution, which was carried.

DR. G. HOLMES, Senior Hon. Physician, replying on behalf of his colleagues, expressed their gratification at the installation of a lift and operating theatre and the decision to appoint a House Physician. He wished however above all to support the appeal for means to establish at the Hospital a Rheumatism Research Fund. The Hospital was national in character and of the 3,047 patients admitted during the past two years 90.4% were of the rheumatic group. These figures were an indication that the Hospital had established a national reputation for the successful treatment of rheumatism. Though numerous accessory factors had played an important part in establishing this reputation, the fundamental one was the benefits derived from drinking and bathing in the Spa waters. The term "Rheumatism," as popularly used, covered a wide range of ailments. Lumbago affected the muscles and fibrous tissues of the back; Sciatica caused pain along the chief nerve down the back of the thigh, but it was with rheumatism of the joints—arthritis—characterised by pain, stiffness and swelling and deformity that they were now concerned. It consisted of two main groups. First, where a recognisable infection was the main cause. It might be localised as in the case of an infected tooth or tonsil. If this could be eradicated before structural changes had taken place in the joint, the patient should with suitable treatment, make a complete recovery. Again the infection might be a general one, such as scarlet fever or pneumonia, and as the patient recovered from this the joints subsided or at least were left in a condition usually amenable to treatment.

Secondly, there was the group in which the most thorough bacteriological search failed to show any evidence of infection and where physical examination and medical history alike failed to afford any clue to the cause.

Happily some of these cases responded to treatment on general lines, but it was in this group that most of their failures occurred. This meant that in the worst cases the patient gradually grew more disabled until he became a bedfast cripple. Such cripples were the justification of the present appeal. They could be seen in any Home for Incurables or Poor Law Infirmary, and in many private homes, for the disease spared no class.

Why, it might be asked, should such an appeal be made in connection with a Spa Hospital? It was because the public and the medical profession both looked to the Spas to give the lead. From time immemorial the cure and relief of rheumatic afflictions had been sought at healing springs, but until recently the only treatment available for the rheumatic out-patient was a bottle of medicine or a liniment, which might alleviate, but seldom, if ever, cured his complaint. This was not the fault of the General Hospitals. Arthritis was a chronic and disabling but not in itself a fatal malady, and their beds were seldom available for any but acute and urgent cases. The time to attack even a chronic disease with any hope of success was in its early stages and the Spa Hospitals urged that such cases should be sent to them as early as possible. They alone had the necessary beds and as patients were there in large numbers, they were the natural centres for research. Primarily they were established to administer baths and waters, but the modern Spa Hospital did much more than this. Its patients underwent X-Ray, bacteriological, biochemical and other laboratory investigations. The most modern forms of electrical and other physiotherapeutic measures were used and, when necessary, vaccines were prepared and sent home with the patient with such information as was likely to be helpful to the patient's own doctor. There was ample evidence that the work done in the Spa Hospitals of Bath, Buxton, and Harrogate, during the past twenty years, had done much to raise the standard of efficiency of the treatment of rheumatism throughout the country. It must be borne in mind that though only comparatively few of the sufferers from rheumatism came to the Spas, either as hospital or private patients, all benefited by any new knowledge acquired thereby.

But though much had been done, they had to face the fact that the resources of medicine failed to cure an appreciable percentage of the sufferers from arthritis. The problems waiting to be solved demanded team work and the services of a whole-time research worker, since much of the work necessitated prolonged observation, which could not be undertaken by anyone subject to the demands of private practice. Furthermore, means to ensure continuity of the work over a period of years was essential.

They appealed for £10,000 spread over a period of seven years. Such an appeal, even in these difficult times, could be fully justified on economic grounds. The Approved Societies were paying out some £2,000,000 annually in connection with rheumatic ailments for the insured section of the community alone. If the loss of earning capacity and the cost of maintenance in institutions were taken into account, the cost of this group of diseases was incalculable. On humanitarian grounds alone no stone should be left unturned to save possible sufferers in the future.

He and his colleagues had an unhappy feeling that some of the cases they dealt with must inevitably become helplessly crippled and bedfast. They gave such people the benefit of such investigation and treatment as was within their power, but until the necessary funds were forthcoming they could not do more.

MR. RHODES moved and MR. STANLEY BARNES seconded various alterations in the Rules, which were adopted without discussion.

MR. A. KENNEAR (Newcastle) proposed and MRS. GELDART (Harrogate) seconded the re-election of the Auditors, Messrs. Lowrey, Weston and Whalley.

The resolution was carried.

MR. RHODES proposed and MR. FREEMAN seconded a vote of thanks to Lord Harewood for presiding over the Meeting, which was carried.

LORD HAREWOOD replied.

Report of the Committee of Management.

*To The Right Honourable The Earl of Harewood, K.G. D.S.O., and Subscribers of the Royal Bath Hospital and Rawson
Convalescent Home, Harrogate.*

In presenting their 105th Annual Report for the year 1930, your Committee begs to state that the total number of patients admitted to the Hospital was 1,401, of whom 1,022 stayed for a second term. These figures show an increase respectively of 225 and 107 over the corresponding figures for 1929. To the Rawson Convalescent Home 429 cases were admitted, an increase of 28 over the figure for 1929. Of these, 330 stayed for a second term, compared with 281 in the previous year, an increase of 49. It will thus be seen that there is a total increase in the number of patients admitted of 253.

PERSONAL.

Your Committee records with deep and sincere regret the loss by death of two of its members, Major E. P. Cross and Mr. J. S. Cowell. It is a tragic coincidence that both of them attended meetings at the Hospital very shortly before their deaths. Though his professional and official duties prevented Major Cross from frequent attendance at the meetings of the Committee, especially of later years, he had throughout his association with the Hospital for nineteen years always shown the utmost readiness to place his advice and services at its disposal.

He was the moving spirit in the presentation of his portrait to the Hon. Treasurer, which took place in 1928, and undertook the duties of Hon. Treasurer connected therewith with characteristic thoroughness. His loss leaves a blank which it will be difficult to fill.

Mr. Cowell was elected to the Committee in 1924. During the six years he had served he had attended Meetings with the utmost regularity, and had taken a keen and close interest in all its affairs. His opinions always commanded respect by reason of their shrewdness and far-sightedness, the outcome of his business experience, and his sane counsel has been greatly missed.

Changes on the Hon. Medical Staff have been necessitated by the resignations of Dr. G. L. Kerr Pringle and Dr. L. C. E. Calthrop in the Spring and at the end of the year respectively. Dr. Pringle joined the Staff in 1913, so that, with the exception of his years of war service, he had held office for nearly seventeen years, for the last eight of which he has acted as Senior Hon. Physician. He has never spared himself in promoting the welfare and progress of the Hospital, and to him may be attributed a large share of the initiative which has brought about many recent improvements and developments. By electing him to the position of Honorary Consultant, the Committee have made further available in the interests of the Hospital his zeal and experience.

Dr. Calthrop joined the Staff in 1922. His previous experience of balneology has made his work of exceptional value, and the thoroughness with which he has carried out that work has gained the affectionate respect of all with whom he has had to deal.

The vacancies thus created have been filled by the appointment of Dr. R. P. J. Rutherford and Dr. J. Wesley-Smith.

GENERAL.

Early in the year the new electric lift was completed and has proved of great value in dealing with the more seriously crippled cases, besides affording easy access to the new operating theatre and anæsthetic room, which were completed in the Autumn. Other important improvements have been the provision of a wooden floor for the smoking and billiards rooms, and a new Chapel. This will provide greatly increased accommodation, which was badly needed, besides being altogether more worthy of the purpose for which it is intended than the one hitherto in use.

The buildings have throughout been maintained in a high state of repair, and it is doubtful whether they have ever been in a better condition than at the present time.

In consequence of a request received from the Hon. Medical Staff that your Committee would consider the desirability of appointing a House Physician in view of the greatly increased work now falling upon them, a Sub-Committee, under the chairmanship of Sir John Eaglesome, examined the question. After four sittings they produced a report which was unanimously in favour of the project, and your Committee proposes to make such appointment during the course of this year. Suitable accommodation can be obtained by adapting the large room which has hitherto done duty as a chapel and waiting room. The extension of admission days from one to four per week, which is one outcome of this development, is referred to in the report of the Hon. Medical Staff.

This change necessitates an alteration to the Rules, and the opportunity has been taken to revise them throughout. It is ten years since the last revision took place, and in certain details they required bringing up to date. For the most part the changes are slight, but greater simplicity, lucidity, and brevity have been aimed at and, it is believed, have been secured. Notice of the proposed changes have been sent to all subscribers, and your Committee submits them for ratification at the Annual General Meeting with every confidence that they will be approved.

Outstanding events during the past year have been the visit to the Hospital or the Conference of the Medical Officers of Health on 16th May, and a Sale of Work on behalf of the "Comforts Fund," organised by the Matron and Nursing Staff. This was held on Wednesday, 17th September, and was opened by the Hospital Chaplain, Rev. J. Bell, M.A., Vicar of St. Mary's. The amount realised exceeded £200, and thanks are gratefully given to all, who, by their work or money, contributed to this satisfactory result.

FINANCE.

Comparison of the receipts for the Hospital during the past year with those for 1929 show no marked differences in detail, the total increase being only £175. The same remark applies to the expenditure side, but it has to be borne in mind that for a slightly less expenditure, some 260 more patients have been accommodated. This has resulted in a welcome decrease in the per capita charges, as will be seen on reference to the analysis, under various heads, given on page 10.

Perhaps the most satisfactory feature of all the figures is that the Convalescent Home for the first time shows the substantial balance of £494. This permits a considerable reduction in an adverse balance of between eight and nine hundred pounds, which has hampered the Home now for several years past, and is in part due to the smallness of its Endowment.

The Laboratory, on the other hand, increases its call upon the Revenue of the Hospital by nearly £40, since its income remains practically stationary, but its expenditure increases year by year. Your Committee, however, records with grateful thanks the receipt of a donation of £50 from Miss L. E. Watson, together with two or three smaller sums to be placed to the credit of the Endowment Account, and it is a hopeful sign that after three years' stagnation this Account has made some little progress.

Although the amount received by way of Hospital Sunday and other Collections has decreased by £45, it will be seen on page 74 that the actual amount received through the Hospital Sunday Collections shows an increase over that of 1929, viz., £121 as against £112, and the thanks of your Committee are hereby accorded to all those who have organized this annual event or preached on its behalf. Particularly are their thanks given to those congregations which have, out of their collections, assigned a definite sum to this Hospital, since its normal share of all other monies amounts only to one ninth. Again it is gratifying to find that the Donations—usually a very modest item—have more than doubled, and show an increase of £50. This, to some extent, counterbalances the falling off by some £60 in the amount received by way of quarterly grants from Approved Societies.

Finally it may be remarked that although the provision of the Electric Lift and Operating Theatre, with its equipment, have made a heavy drain upon the Contingencies Reserve Account, it has been found possible to construct and furnish the New Chapel without making further demands upon this Fund.

LEGACIES.

During 1930 one bequest was received for the Rawson Convalescent Home—J. Cross, Esq., £100. For the Hospital—Mrs. Bridgewater, £131 9s. 4d.; Mrs. A. E. Richardson (two instalments), £1,192 10s. 0d.; Basil Woodd, Esq., £266 19s. 9d. These amounts have been placed respectively to the Endowment Accounts of the Home and the Hospital.

Chaplain's Report.

St. Mary's Vicarage,

Harrogate,

31st December, 1930.

TO THE GOVERNORS OF THE ROYAL BATH HOSPITAL AND RAWSON CONVALESCENT HOME.

Gentlemen,

In presenting to you my first Annual Report I should like to express my gratitude to the Matron, and other members of the Staff, for all the help they have given me in my work as Chaplain.

The services have been invariably well attended, and the patients undoubtedly appreciate the opportunities afforded them for worship and devotion.

The new Chapel (now almost complete) will meet a long felt need ; it will be more worthy of the Hospital and will provide adequate accommodation for all the patients.

(Signed) J. BELL, M.A.,

Chaplain.

Report of the Hon. Medical Staff.

From January, 1931, patients will be admitted to the Hospital at 2 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays in each week instead of on Thursdays only as in the past. By this means the time patients have to wait for admission should be lessened. It is hoped that both patients and their medical advisers will take advantage of the increased number of admission days during the early weeks of the year and so lessen congestion during the Summer months.

The building of the Operating Theatre has been completed during the past twelve months and enables the necessary surgical work of the Hospital to be done under satisfactory conditions. The installation of the electric lift was necessary with the construction of the Operating Theatre, but is also of the greatest assistance in enabling our more helpless patients to use the first and second floor wards of the Hospital.

The Honorary Medical Staff are particularly gratified by the decision of the Board of Management to appoint a House Physician to the Hospital. They feel that such an appointment will not only facilitate the work of the institution but will create a post of great educational value and in time help to spread a more intimate knowledge of the work of the Hospital amongst the medical profession.

The most pressing need of the Hospital at the present time is the installation and equipment of an X-ray department. All Hospital patients requiring X-ray examination have to be sent to the private Consulting Rooms of our Honorary Radiologists, an arrangement causing loss of time and much inconvenience. The importance of X-ray examinations in diseases of joints is obvious and the provision of an X-ray department on the premises is essential in the best interests of the patients.

The work of Dr. Muriel Keyes in investigating the relation between rheumatic diseases and pelvic infection in women is worthy of special comment, and increased facilities for treatment of these conditions are necessary.

The Gynæcological department could be made more effective if it had the whole-time services of a fully trained sister. Apparatus and accommodation for intestinal lavage are required in connection with the department and would incidentally be of great use in the general treatment of the Bath Hospital patients.

Dr. Keyes read a paper on "The Septic Uterus as a Factor in Rheumatic Disease" before the Harrogate Medical Society on December 18th, which will be published later.

To the Gynæcological department 70 new cases were referred, and of these (and of old cases returning) 101 complete pelvic examinations were made; swabs for bacteriological report were taken in 48 cases and 138 consultations were held, in addition to attendances for examination, or treatment.

Treatment (in those cases where it was desired by the Physician-in-Charge) was given as follows:—

Urethroscopic	40
Intra-uterine glycerine irrigations		118
Dressings to uterine cervix	..	15
Minor operative treatments	..	3
Diathermy (Medical)	197	(vaginal .. 180 (urethral .. 14 (rectal or intra- (uterine .. 3)

The facilities provided by the Laboratory for the investigation and treatment of chronic rheumatism and allied conditions continue to be used freely. 472 patients have been referred for laboratory investigation and 1,950 specimens examined, 88 autogenous vaccines have been prepared. Details of the types of work carried out in the Laboratory are indicated in the Summary appended.

Dr. Dorothy Potter has kindly helped in the routine work of the Laboratory by taking over the estimation of basal metabolic rate examinations. These examinations take up individually a considerable amount of time, and the best thanks are due to Dr. Potter for her help.

Dr. Yeoman and Dr. Miller have been collaborating in the uses of urinary proteoses in the treatment of certain skin diseases and of chronic rheumatism. This work is being carried out along the lines of that described recently by Dr. Oriel and Dr. Barber of Guy's Hospital. The results so far have been encouraging.

During the year assistance has been given by the Physiology Department of the Leeds Medical School in the investigation of the excretions in chronic rheumatism. Professor McSwiney, the head of the Physiological Department, has given valuable help from time to time, and it is hoped that in the near future the liaison between the Hospital and the Physiology Department of the Leeds Medical School will become greater.

The retirement of Dr. Kerr Pringle and Dr. Calthrop from the active ranks of the Honorary Medical Staff is much regretted by their colleagues who fully appreciate the value of the services they have rendered to the Hospital. Dr. Pringle has been a member of the Staff since 1913 and during the whole of this period, with the exception of his four years' absence on War Service, has been indefatigable in promoting the development of the Hospital. Dr. Calthrop was already an experienced balneologist when he came to us from Woodhall Spa, and his advice on all matters relating to baths and the training of bath attendants has been especially helpful.

The Laboratory has sustained a severe loss in the departure of Dr. F. B. Smith to Preston to take up duties in the Pathological Department of the Preston Royal Infirmary. His active co-operation in the Laboratory will be greatly missed.
